Question 1: How does the setting contribute to the story's mood?

Answer: The setting—a stalled train in the heat of summer—creates a sense of confinement and discomfort that amplifies the characters' frustration and anxiety. The phrase implies a critique of human nature's tendency to dominate rather than collaborate in crisis.

Question 3: Describe the transformation of any character throughout the story.

Answer: One character, initially calm and composed, gradually reveals a more controlling and aggressive side as the situation worsens.
